Savannah Lane

Platform: Power of Performance

At the age of eight years old, Savannah was inspired by her sister's Brianna's work overcoming struggles with Autism and learning/coordination/social disabilities that she created her platform "The Power of Performance" to use the arts as a method to cope and provide comfort. Since that young age Savannah has continued to develop her program by producing individually tailored shows as a music therapy program in children's hospitals, retirement centers, veterans organizations and more. Additionally, Savannah has created a strategy to show student's how to utilize the arts as a method to encourage the "Three C's" of confidence, compassion, and love of country.
